

Workforce Risk Gap

There is a well-known risk gap that emerges after an employee or contractor is hired. While pre-employment background checks provide a point-in-time assessment, they are inherently limited and can miss emerging threats. So, how can organizations safeguard themselves in the post-hire phase from risks like policy violations, criminal activity, theft, fraud, violence, insider threats, financial liabilities, lawsuits, and damage to brand reputation?

Closing The Gap

Reporting Category	# Records Found
Sexual Offense	123
